Labor Queries Yard on New Canteen Setup

In an open letter to Marinship management, the Joint Shop Stewards Committee for Hot Foods has posed some direct questions on seating facilities and cost of the new yard canteens which were opened recently.

"Is it expected that we ought to be content to bolt our food standing out in the cold and rain these coming wet months?", the letter sharply inquires.

Calling turnstile and pipe arrangements "high-falutin'", the notice declares it would appear as though collection of money was more important than food or seating arrangements.

The committee pointed out that, in a poll conducted over a year ago, everybody voted for shelter in conjunction with hot food.

The last and most embarrassing question is, "How is it possible to spend $150,000 on this deal?" The committee declared it wants to know in order to answer workers who approach their union leaders with canteen complaints.

The letter ends on a note of confidence, saying the committee believes management has both the money and the power to do a good job on feeding facilities.

The labor committee is a representative body composed of delegates from all AFL unions at Marinship.

Judgment on Market Given By U. S. Court

A judgment for a permanent injunction was granted last week against Lonnie Nichols and Chris Beck, former operators of the Marin City Market, by the U. S. District Court. The injunction forbids them to charge above ceiling prices.

This legal action follows a suit filed against Nichols and Beck by the San Francisco office of the Office of Price Administration in November.

The man who was instrumental in filing charges against the market was M. E. Nelson, enforcement investigator with regional OPA. Since that time, Nelson has become sole operator of the grocery section, taking over the business December 3.

Janitor Jobs Prove Popular In Marin City

It pays to ask for help in The Marin Citizen, declared Clarence Law of the Housing Authority this week. Law was swamped by applicants following an appeal for janitorial help at the Community House.

Selected for the jobs were Thurman Watrus, full time, and W. R. Thomas, part time. The newcomers replace Lloyd Allen, now with the Sausalito School District, and Vince Dunn, who was inducted into the Army last week.

Center Closed

The Medical Center will be closed this weekend from Saturday noon through Christmas Day. For emergencies, residents should call Sausalito 886 or 1220.

Turkey for the G.I.'s

Junior Davis, 13-year-old Arab, adopted as the mascot of a 15th Air Force Fighter Squadron, speaks Arabic, French, Italian and English fluently, but, judging from the bird's expression, can't talk turkey. Turkey will be served to G.I. Joes around the world on Christmas Day. Your purchases of War Bonds help make it possible. Buy at least an extra $100 War Bond today!

Russian Commission Visits Marin City On Coast Tour

Four Russian technical experts, members of a government purchasing commission from the Soviet Union, visited Marin City this week on a coast tour of construction investigation. Leader of the party was Professor Y. N. Ivanov who said they were primarily interested in building materials. In Marin City they inspected one of the houses to check on wall ventilation, heating facilities, floor material and insulation.

Prof Ivanov stated that they expected to purchase machinery from the United States to make building material to construct homes in the Soviet Union.

He remarked that in Moscow there is no temporary construction. However, in western Russia where towns and cities have been leveled by war, there is considerable temporary building of wood and earth.

In their America tour, the party was interested in all kinds of construction material techniques which might be applicable to their own country. Most of the temporary housing which they have seen is too light from a climatic standpoint for Russian use, Ivanov said.

Seeking information about demountable and pre-fabricated dwellings, the men visited Hunter's Point, Sunnyvale, Valencia Gardens and San Bruno.

Before they returned to New York late this week, they also inspected gypsum, cement and plywood factories.

Change Made

Renovation to brighten up the lobby in front of the local cafeteria was nearly completed this week by the housing authority.

Maintenance carpenters, in one day, moved the candy shop to another side of the entrance. Windows will be added to one side of the lobby to complete reconstruction.

Post Office Will Be Open The Day Before Christmas

Marin City post office windows will be open Sunday, December 24, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, announces Tom Bradley, head clerk.

The Sabbath open hours will enable residents to receive last minute letters and packages.

On Christmas Day, the post office will be closed.

New Year's Eve Dance To Be Big Event

The New Year's Eve dance in Marin City promises to be the biggest holiday affair in the county, this week said W. C. Billingsley, chairman of the dance arrangements.

Engaged to provide music for the annual celebration event is Johnnie Ingram's popular colored band from San Francisco. His six-piece orchestra has appeared before large and appreciative crowds here twice during the last month.

Party plans call for a gala evening with all the traditional New Year's trimmings. Every man and woman in Marin City who likes hot jive music and entertainment is reminded to make their celebration plans for the Community House at 8:30 p.m., when the doors will open.

Prices will not be upped for the special occasion. The usual Press Club Frolic prices of 50 cents for servicemen and for unescorted women arriving before 9 p.m. will be in effect. Regular admission will be $1.

The affair is sponsored by the editorial committee of the Marin City Council to benefit The Marin Citizen.

Wallet Returned

Philip Mack, Navy son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mack of House 161, considers himself a lucky sailor this week. While home on leave last week he lost his wallet, containing not only money but all his seaman papers.

The wallet was found by Alec Walker, head gardener with the housing authority, who turned it into the Maintenance Department, which promptly turned it back to Philip.

Vacation Play Activities Free Fun Offered Children

Whether Marin City youngsters like to play basketball, pound nails or go to free movies during their playtime, they are sure to find an activity to interest them in the varied recreation program offered during Christmas vacation.

Two extra free movies have been added to the regular schedule, according to Mrs. Lois Nelson, Marin County Recreation Supervisor. The next one is set for 9:30 a.m. Friday, December 29, in the auditorium, with songfest and games lengthening it into a two-hour party. The first extra movie was shown last Friday. The regular program, which provides a free show at 7:30 p.m. every Thursday and a 10-cents-addition event at 2 p.m. every Saturday will continue during the holidays.

Ping-pong, dodge ball, badminton, basketball and other games will be offered in the gym at the usual times, Mrs. Nelson said. The gym is open from 10:30-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays; from 2-5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, and from 6:30-9:30 p.m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Christmas decorations have been emphasized in craft classes the past week, along with woodworking and leather work. Crafts are offered from 10-11:30 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and from 2-5 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays. Each participant in the craft program pays five cents a week to help cover the cost of materials.

Teen-age boys and girls are eligible for the Teeners' Club, which holds a dance at 9 p.m. every Friday in the auditorium.

"If the weather permits, we will conduct several hikes during the holidays," Mrs. Nelson said.

Double V Club Elects New Officers

John Walton was elected new president of the Double "V" Club at a meeting in the Community House, December 1. He replaces E. T. Anderson, who has been serving as head since the original president, Jesse James, was inducted into the Army.

Other officers elected are A. G. Cleaver Jr., vice-president; Mrs. E. T. Anderson, secretary, and A. Coleman, treasurer.

The club, which has a large membership and, at one time, had a large attendance, has dropped off considerably. It is hoped that, under its new leaders, the club will regain the attention of its former attendants.

The new officers urged all who are interested in the purpose and principle for which the club was organized, to come out and take an active part in the constructive work the club has been doing and will continue to do to promote Double Victory.

Members of the executive committee, also elected at the Sunday meeting, are: Harrison Abbott, chairman; Mrs. Juliet Stansbery, A. C. Cleaver Jr., Moses Beard, A. Collins, Henry Citizen, Dorothy Guidry, Morris Gibbs, J. E. Berry, Frank Mathews, E. T. Anderson, Walton Rogers, and A. Coleman.

G. E. Grigsby was designated non-voting representative to the Marin City Council.

Mrs. Malcolm Pendley was elected chairman of the entertainment committee. Chairman of the membership committee is Henry Citizen.

Teeners Package Gifts for Coast Servicemen

As their contribution of holiday cheer to soldiers stationed at isolated coast posts, members of the Marin City Teeners Club last week packed and sent 20 Christmas packages.

Their gifts were part of the County Recreation Department's plan to provide presents for the nearby soldiers who are often neglected in larger gift-giving projects.

Into each package went stationery, pencil, pocket edition book, cards, razor blades, tooth brush and paste, and comb.

City Bus Faces Gas Shortage, More Passengers

Statistics released by Charles Moser this week, in an attempt to secure adequate gasoline allotments from the Office of Defense Transportation, show that Marin City's inter-city bus service carries approximately 1248 passengers daily.

The November load was 32,152. December's passenger load will be 37,440, predicts Moser, operator.

Unless he receives additional gasoline supplies by the end of this week, Moser declared that Marin City bus service would be curtailed to one diesel-operated vehicle.

False Alarm

The noon siren in Marin City astonished residents yesterday by three long alarms instead of the usual short blast.

The strange alarm was caused when Fireman Lewis Carlin accidentally pushed the wrong button which started the automatic fire signal.

Yard Labor Group Commends Anti-inflation Campaign

The Joint Shop Steward's Committee, representing all AFL unions at Marinship, last week went on record adopting a "price watching" resolution. The proposal was submitted to the active yard committee by the Woman's Auxiliary to the labor advisory committee to the San Francisco office of Price Administration. It is:

WHEREAS, about 40 per cent of the money spent by the average family goes for food, and an inflationary rise in the cost of food would seriously affect workers and their families, and

WHEREAS, we as a part of the largest group of organized consumers in the Nation, are aware that there is the increasing danger that victory in Europe may cause many consumers and merchants to relax their vigilance and allow food prices to creep up, therefore be it

RESOLVED, that this organization, the Joint Shop Steward's Committee, representing all AFL unions at Marinship, go on record as commending the nationwide Grocer-Consumer Anti-Inflation Campaign, and be it further

RESOLVED, that as housewives and consumers we pledge our wholehearted support to the campaign for the sake of America's future, and recommend that other groups of organized labor take the same action.

Resident Charged With Assault and Resisting Officer

F. C. Rainey of A22-169, who was arrested Sunday night by sheriff's deputies L. W. Furrow and E. D. Connolly, appeared in Sausalito police court Monday where bail was set at $5,000.

Rainey is accused of assault with a deadly weapon and resisting an officer.

Deputies were called to the Rainey home Sunday night by Mrs. Rainey and her friend, Mrs. Mark Holman, who accused the prisoner of attempting to assault them.

When the officers arrived, they found Rainey wielding a home-made hunting knife. To take him into custody, it was found necessary to use a black-jack, according to L. C. Allen, chief deputy.

Santa Claus at Yard Launching Last Sunday

Old Saint Nick rode down into the waters of San Francisco Bay last Sunday, when the tanker SS Rincon Hills was launched at Marinship. Painted on the bow of the ship, Santa held in his hand a $100 War Bond.

The ship was christened at 11:30 a.m. by Mrs. Ralph J. Hoffman of Sausalito, wife of the Marinship Superintendent of Plate Shop and Sub Assembly. The 523-foot tanker is named for the Rincon oilfields of Ventura County, California.

The 67th Marinship launching was opened on a Christmas theme when R. W. Adams, employee relations manager, declared,

"This ship is a fine Christmas present to thrust into the face of the Fuehrer and his Jap accomplices."

Mumps Ahead

Mumps lead the prevalent disease report released this week by the Marin County Health Department.

The report lists: mumps, 7 cases; chickenpox, 3; German measles, 1; gonorrhoea, 6; poliomyelitis, 2; scarlet fever, 2; syphilis, 1.

Xmas Spirit Rides Yard on Gantry Crane

The spirit of Christmas came to Marinship today—riding on a big gantry crane.

A giant Christmas tree was swung high into the air by a crane, and lifted onto the bow of the tanker Potrero Hills, which is being assembled on Way 5.

Thousands of motorists passing through Sausalito or over the Golden Gate Bridge could see the twinkling lights of the tree from its unusual position on the bow of the ship. Simultaneously small Christmas trees, brought from homes by friendly workers, appeared in many yard offices to contribute to the Yuletide spirit at the Sausalito shipyard.

There is always a last minute gift that you overlooked in the general confusion of holiday preparations. Our shop has a lovely selection of silk slips, from 2.70 to 4.50. And best of all, there is a new assortment of slips with lace-trimmed hems.

And don't forget that panties and bras are a very acceptable gift. Something that no girl ever has too many of—panties 1.00 to 1.25; bras from 1.25 to 1.98.

Do you have an extra special engagement for New Year's eve or the Christmas holidays? We would love to show you our selection of formal dresses or if you are going stepping in the city, we can offer you some very chic numbers in street length dresses.

And don't forget we have hats, slacks, suits, etc. If you have experienced the Christmas rush in the city, you can appreciate the convenience of shopping close to your home.

If we don't see you before Christmas so we can say it in person, you have our every good wish for a merry holiday season and a new year of contentment and prosperity.

Dale Moen of House 562 has an infected finger which had to be opened at Ross Hospital. He returned home right away and is now doing well.

Mrs. Eleanor Alber, A44-585, not only bruised her leg, but the next day caught her hand in the washing machine wringer. Very painful but no bones broken.

Roy Barton fell over a barrel this week and broke his arm. He is now sporting a cast.

Mrs. Ovita Davis and baby of House 776 left Saturday for Texas to join her husband, who is in the Army.

Nurse Marie Bogue of the Medical Center, who has been on a two weeks vacation in Los Angeles, is expected back in Marin City this weekend.

Dr. Myrl Morris is on a three weeks leave. Replacing her at the Medical Center is Dr. Mollie Chalfin from Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Viola Meyers from Los Angeles is here visiting her mother, Mrs. Mary Meyers, for the Christmas holidays.

Miss Clare Tompkins from San Anselmo has been a house guest of Miss Alice James this week. During her stay the girls attended the formal Christmas dance at the Sausalito Servicemen's Club.

Mrs. Alvester Holloway of Forrester, Ark., daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Holloway, is visiting here for the holidays. Her husband is a soldier now at New Guinea. The elder Mrs. Holloway will leave next week for a trip to Los Angeles.

Seaman Bill Smith of the United States Navy, nephew of Councilman Michael Smith, has visited frequently at the Smith home since his recent transfer to Treasure Island from school at Keyport, Wash. He plans to spend Christmas Day with his uncle and aunt unless the Navy changes his mind at the last moment.

The regularly scheduled Marin City Council meeting this Sunday night has been canceled.

Save Every Drop Of Waste Fat

Whether you're preparing roast beef, turkey, or perhaps a baked ham for your family's Christmas day feast, do your bit for victory by saving every drop of waste fat. No amount is too trifling to save—since thousands of articles, ranging from soap to munitions, need used fats for their manufacture. Strain the fat into a tin can and turn it in to your butcher. He'll give you four cents and two red points for every pound!

Elderly Worker Leaves Shipyard

T. J. Draper, 82-year-old father of Councilman Jess Draper, has decided to retire. After 18 months of work at Marinship, Draper senior felt ready for a vacation.

His retirement begins with a visit to his sister for the Christmas holidays at Chico, Calif.

Amateur Hour Entertainment At Xmas Party

The Marin City Women's Club gave a Christmas party last Saturday for their children and the Intermediate Girl Scouts.

The youngsters provided their own program in the form of an amateur hour, with Mrs. J. R. Kahrt as mistress-of-ceremonies.

Santa Claus was present to hand out gifts. For refreshments, children and grown-ups had cookies, baked by the mothers, and ice cream bars, donated by R. D. King, who operates the Arden ice cream truck in Marin City.

Teener Party

It's party night tonight at the Teener club house, "399", with all members invited to a session of entertainment and free refreshments.

Hostesses, Mrs. Earl James and Mrs. Jess Draper will serve popcorn, cokes and Christmas cookies.

The Week at Your Marin County Theatres

THE odds were thousands to one against a stocky, freckle-faced blues singer who came here nine years ago for a career.

Today Judy Garland is one of our top box office pets. She could put aside her songs and go dramatic any day in the week. She could, but I sure would be mad at her.

Hers is no Cinderella story. No stardom overnight for Baby Frances Gumm, "the little girl with the great big voice," as she was billed in vaudeville.

From the day she was three she worked, and worked some more.

Long before Judy or her two sisters, Virginia and Sue, were born, Frank and Ethel Gumm toured vaudeville circuits as "Jack and Virginia Lee, sweet southern singers." When the first Gumm sister arrived they settled in Grand Rapids, Minn.

Grease paint was put aside for the nonce and Frank Gumm took over the New Grand Theater as manager. It was there, at the age of three, that Judy made her debut. Her two sisters, with mother at the piano, were on the stage. Judy had been told to sit quietly in the dressing room. She had her own ideas—she still has. She wanted to sing, too, and sing she did. Before anyone knew it she was standing in front of the audience singing five choruses of "Jingle Bells."

California, Here We Come

Shortly after that the Gums left for California. In other words, they worked their way out. Jobs were scarce. At Lancaster, Calif., the local theater was crying for a new manager. For nine years the Gums lived there.

It took a lot of courage to tackle a trip to Chicago. But they did it. There Fortune smiled. They were booked into the Oriental Theater. That night marked the end of the Gumm Sisters. Up until now they had been billed as "The Crumb Sisters," "the Bum Sisters," but this was too much. The marquee read, "The Glum Sisters." George Jessel changed their name to Garland, and Frances switched hers to Judy.

Change of name didn't mean a change of luck, though. They decided to go home. Jobs along the road barely covered expenses.

Then Virginia and Sue decided to marry. That meant that what was laughingly called their act would split up. For sentiment's sake they had one last fling. They sang at the Lodge at Lake Tahoe. A talent scout spotted Judy and in three weeks she was signed by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Even then she waited around a year, but Judy finally got an assignment—a two-reeler with Deanna Durbin called "Every Sunday." Then Durbin was grabbed by Universal and started getting the breaks. But Judy got nothing except bits and heartbreaks.

Her first role with Mickey Rooney broke the ice. A couple of scenes in "Thoroughbreds Don't Cry" led to writing a part for her in "Love Finds Andy Hardy." Ida Koverman became her guardian angel and kept putting in those good words for her.

Deserved It

For "The Wizard of Oz" Judy received the Academy award for the outstanding juvenile performance of the year. Then came "Babes in Arms" and a series of Rooney-Garland musicals that spelled box office dynamite.

"Yeah, but how good will she be without Rooney?" the cynics questioned. Judy answered them with "Little Nellie Kelly," "Presenting Lily Mars," and "For Me and My Gal."

It seems a far cry from one-night stands in East Alhambra to the Philadelphia Symphony, but Judy was the girl who made it. Last summer she broke the record at Robin Hood Dell when, accompanied by Andre Kostelanetz and a hundred piece symphony orchestra, she appeared there in a summer concert.

One amazing thing about Judy is her extreme versatility. She could jump from Mickey's teen-age sweetheart in "Babes on Broadway" to the mature role with Gene Kelly in "For Me and My Gal."

Then back with Mickey in "Girl Crazy." Now she's bridging the widest gap of all. With the technicolor musical "Meet Me in St. Louis" done, Judy's done her first straight dramatic role in "The Clock."

Gosh, Such Praise!

George Cukor, who's done the job of his life in "Winged Victory," is reading scripts at Metro. George said working with Darryl Zanuck was a terrific experience. He'll take a chance on everything. And until George worked with him he had no idea Zanuck was so sensitive. "His picture mind," says George, "is sharp as the cutter's shears." . . . Would you believe that Monty Woolley's name is not Monty, but Edgar? Fancy Edgar behind that beard!

A Christmas Tribute

Looking back over the history of Marin City, we feel that it is time for a word of editorial commendation to the Community Church and Sunday School which this week celebrates its third Christmas in Marin City.

Established in the first days of this housing project, the Community Church has been one of the most outstanding services in Marin City.

Under the staunch and intelligent leadership of Dr. Norman Pendleton, well-known California clergyman, this church for all denominations, races, and creeds has been fulfilling religious needs of our community for three years.

As we approach another Christmas here, when all hearts are filled with thoughts of peace, it is well to pay tribute to this community church which has so steadily advanced the Christian ideal of worshiping and working together in harmony.

In conformance with the ideals of its founder, the California Church Council, spiritual leaders from many denominations have spoken from the community pulpit. It has truly exemplified the principles of tolerance and good will toward all men.

In providing Christian teaching to the town's children, the community church has been outstandingly successful. It has grown from a few children in one class to hundreds of boys and girls meeting together for Christian learning every Sunday morning. In addition, the church has provided musical and social groups for the youngsters which are an integral part of every child's life in a peaceful world.

That families uprooted by war, should find the consolation of established religious leadership, has been one of the finest things in our temporary town.

Cheerfulness keeps up a kind of daylight in the mind, filling it with a steady and perpetual serenity.—Addison.

MIKE'S COLUMN

By MICHAEL B. SMITH

As the Chaplin case goes into its third "thrill"-packed day, it would seem that the average reader's appetite for smut is incapable of being satisfied. How else can one explain the amount of space the free press of America is devoting to the trial?

The question posed by this spectacle is nothing new. It's like the question of which comes first, the chicken or the egg.

Whether it is the reader's gnawing hunger for irrelevant filth that forces the papers to report the misadventures of a famous rake, or whether the appetite is created by what it is fed by the press—is moot.

Who cares anyway?

Here we have a situation that's made to order. It involves an ageing clown with world-wide fame, a fabulous fortune and a cute young thing with a weakness of her own.

Mix these ingredients with two double handfuls of sex and you have the recipe (if properly stirred)—that should drive the average sob sister ecstatic with titillation. And the most moronic reader to the very brink of an early grave with excessive drooling.

It's a sad commentary on the intelligence of the American people to say that this is a safe bet.

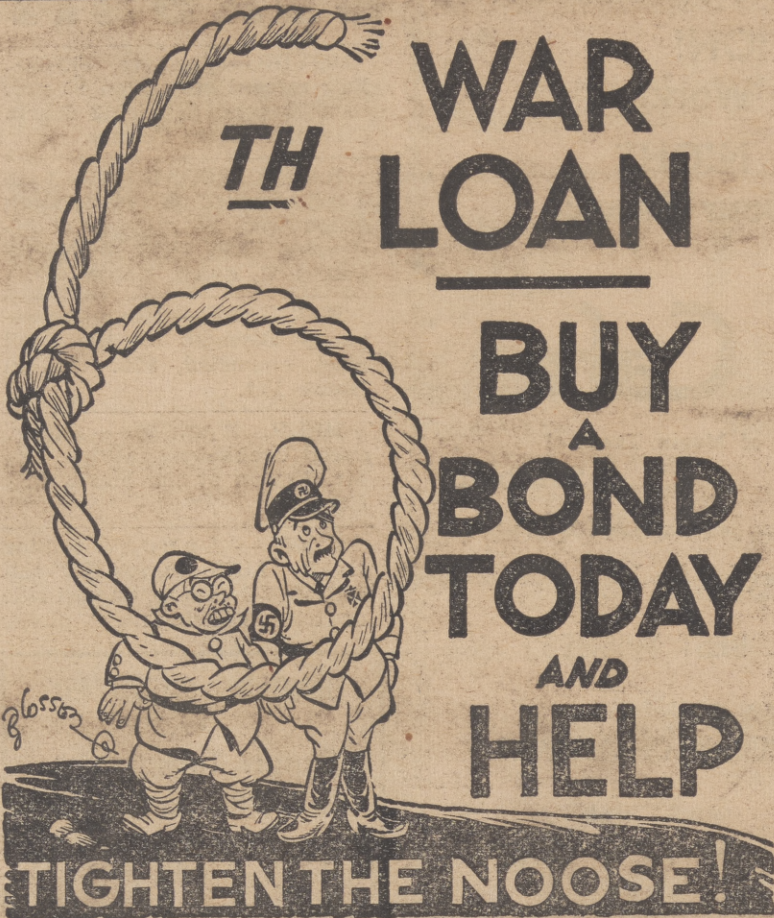

From the conversations I have overheard on the job and riding to and from work, there are twice as many people speculating on the outcome of the Chaplin case than there are on the outcome of the war crisis in Europe.

As ever on the alert, the papers are doing their level best to see that the most intimate details of the battle of Hollywood is brought to the reader.

One of the Hearst papers has even hired a lady writer—who specializes in such trials—to analyze and interpret the "news".

It's all pretty cheap and vulgar, but I suppose it comes under the heading of freedom of the press. We have laws prohibiting women the right to practice the "oldest profession". Unfortunately we have none which keeps writers from prostituting their minds and talents in the interests of yellow journalism.

If all such members of the fourth estate were laid end to end—and then just left there—nobody would miss them.

Nurse Chick

A Christmas Prayer For Eternal Universal Harmony

Looking toward the deeply silent, snow covered mountain tops, Nurse Chick experienced for the first time in her life, the thrill of a "White Christmas." It filled her with a sense of exaltation and reverence.

A world where natural beauty is so effortlessly lovely, where the elements are obedient to the universal laws, must surely be a good place in which to live. "Perhaps" thought she, "the peace we are forever seeking is found when we learn to be as natural in our human affairs as the snow, the mountains and the trees are natural in their sphere."

The great Northern Star flashed brilliantly. It seemed to vibrate, to pulsate with light, recede, and expand again in a new glory of brilliance. "The Three Wise Men, with love and faith in their hearts, followed this very star," said Nurse Chick to herself. "Perhaps the star represents our aspirations, our innermost desires for attainment. The deepest desire of everyone is to be as great as it is possible for him to be. All our struggling, our strife is brought about by the misdirecting of this inner urge to grow into greatness."

"How simple, how exquisitely lovely our life can be when we live in harmony with the universal law of love. For Love is Light, Light is Life. Our deepest desires are expressed through acts of love."

Prayerfully she thought, Let us too, see with our inner eyes, hear with our inner hearing the eternal universal harmony of the Creator."

The North Star flashed, vibrated with brilliant light, as a great song of Peace and Praise rang through the heart of the night.

France as Possible Leader In Post-war Recovery Plans

There are many logical reasons why France should emerge from this war in better physical condition than other powerful countries in Europe.

France probably will have paid the highest price in morale and spiritual loss and at the same time the least in material destruction. The fact that practically all of France's heavy industries were in the North and thus were in the section of the country which first came under German domination argues that the French in their disorganized retreat did not take time to destroy them and therefore the Germans had every reason to preserve them. This is also true of the industrialized section known as the "Red Belt" around Paris, which was taken intact and the products of which passed to the Germans almost without interruption. Tools and heavy manufacturing equipment have probably been overworked, maintenance has probably been neglected, mines "high-graded" to save time and development expense, BUT, the mines and mills and factories are there—they have been subjected to heavy wear and tear and the rate of their normal obsolescence has been accelerated, but they have not been destroyed by German hands. The extent of their destruction by bombing was by Allied bombings when we were "softening up" prior to invasion.

FRANCE AGRICULTURE

France is preponderately an agricultural country and it is hard to destroy an agricultural country in any long range use of the word "destroy". Moreover, the Germans do not seem to have had any intention of so doing. Whereas they were utterly ruthless in removing everything that could walk from Poland, Latvia and almost swept the "bread basket" of the Ukraine clean, they did not apply these tactics to France.

Kiev is rubble as the result of German barbarism—Paris is practically intact. There are physical and economic reasons for this difference in the application of the rules of conquest. Certainly one of these differences is that of transportation.

France's easy collapse simplified Germany's problem of transportation to and from that country and confined her to the transport of finished and partly finished products which provided the homeward haul for trucks and freight cars that had hauled troops and munitions westward, whereas in Poland and the Ukraine the Russians destroyed all productive elements that they were not able to move beyond the

Family Life

By Vox Populos

"This is another tough Christmas", said Si, one evening as he visited in our home. "I can't forget the boys overseas and the suffering in so many lands."

"And British fighting the Greeks", I replied. "Sort of takes the spirit out of one, doesn't it?"

"You're right", sighed Si. "Yet, we still have to do our part. The war still has to be fought and won. We don't gain anything by letting our boys down at the front."

"You know", he continued, "it's harder to fight this war than the last one. During the last war we fought to end all wars, and believed it. All we had to do was to defeat the enemy and a new world would be born. This time, we know that winning the war isn't enough. We know that we also have to win the peace. It will take much hard work on the part of everyone of us—reading, and learning, and thinking out the issues to win the peace."

"It seems at first more discouraging, but it really ain't", I mused. "It ain't, because we're not so blind. We, the people, know more than we did last time, and because we know more, we got more chance really to get somewhere in winnin' the peace."

"We got more chance, but also it takes more guts to go on", replied Si. "Guts like those Greek brothers of yours, that fought and starved and died under the Nazis, and then have guts enough still to fight and strike for what they think is right, even when it means no food is unloaded for themselves."

Here Emma, my wife, broke in. "Determination or guts is not enough", she added. "We also have to have understanding and brotherhood as well as courage. And, in addition, we have to do the work set out for us. Now, Voiceless, you wrap up these presents for the kids. It's true, you had no chance to buy them, but you should have some part in the children's Christmas. Here, wrap them up and mark them."

She put me to work. Si excused himself as he said Mary had told him to be back home soon to wrap up the presents for his kids, also. "And the kids", said he, "are looking forward to Christmas, the dear little shavers."

Hours later, I woke up and thought over again what Si and I had been talking about, and these words came to me:

"In the deep caves of the heart, far down, running under the outward shows of the world and of people,

Running under continents, under the fields and the roots of the grasses and trees,

Under the little thoughts and dreams of men, and the history of races,

I see, feel and hear wondrous and divine things.

I seem to see the strands of affection and love, so tender, so true and life-long, holding together the present and past generations.

I dream that these are the fibers and nerves of a body that lies within the outer body of society;

A network, an innumerable vast interlocked ramification slowly being built up;

All dear lovers and friends, all families, groups, all peoples, nations, all times, all worlds perhaps,

The organic growth of God Himself in time."

German's reach in their entirety. There are no finished products to haul back from the Ukraine. And instead of sending trucks and trains back empty they practically denuded the country of all living things.
